A Lover of God and Man. (In Greek.)

The Righteous shall be in everlasting Remembrance.—Ps. cxii. 6.

Vol. 7, p. 552. Mr. Fern wrote also a treatise "On the Nature of the Body in its State of Glorification." 12mo. 1713.

—ASHBURN.—It was about five or six years from the time at which Mr. Rollins (not Rawlins) left the old Arian Meeting-house, to the period when Mr. Jones came to that place. He was succeeded by various ministers, till the opening of Mr. Cooper's chapel. That meeting-house has been supplied by a considerable number of ministers. Those who have remained the longest are as follows:—Mr. John Birch, from 1808 to 1812; Mr. Thomas Thompson Coales, from 1813 to 1817; and Mr. Alexander Start, the present minister, from 1819. The endowment on the chapel is £42. per annum. The alms-houses are for six godly widows or widowers; or, if such are not to be found, others may be admitted, being above 60 years old. Their allowance is £10. each per year.

There is also a General Baptist meeting-house at Ashburn, under the superintendence of Mr. Pike, of Derby.

—BAKEWELL.—In 1788, Miss Nolon was the means of introducing the Independent sentiments into this town, where they were first taught in a barn. Afterwards, Mr. Denham, supported by Messrs. Scott and Wilson, collected a congregation; to which he continued to preach about two years. Mr. Denham having left, the place was shut up, except that occasionally Mr. Scott sent Mr. Bencliffe, an itinerant, to preach. Then came Mr. Scott himself, for some time, once a fortnight, on week-days. A few years afterwards, the place was regularly supplied, through the medium of Mr. Boden, of Sheffield, by Messrs. Marsden and Rayson; and, during this period, the latter-mentioned gentleman, now of London, organized the church. In 1799 the Rotherham students were first sent. The present chapel was opened in July, 1804; at which time Mr. Robinson settled as minister, who, after a short course of labour and usefulness, died in 1807. After the place had been supplied by students and itinerants for about two years, the Rev. William Coles became the settled minister. He died in 1812. Between the time of his death, and the settlement of Mr. John Wills, in the same year, the place was again supplied by itinerants. At the close of 1815, Mr. Wills left Bakewell; and from that time, till Midsummer, 1823, when the present minister, the Rev. Joseph Barton, came, the place was supplied almost entirely by students from Rotherham. Mr. Barton preaches on the Sabbath afternoon at Middleton-by-Youlgrove, about five miles from Bakewell; and, on the week-day evenings, at Winstar, Pilsley, Stoney-Middleton, and Ashford, places from one to six miles from Bakewell.

—P. 554. WIRKSWORTH.—For Lead read Leod. Between the time of Mr. Holmes and the present minister, the Rev. James S. Hine, (sine A. M.,) there was a Mr. Smith who laboured here about seven years. Besides the Independent chapel, there is, in this town, a General Baptist meeting-house. This interest was raised by the exertions of a Mr. Barrow, who, together with a gentleman of the name of Richardson, at present supplies the pulpit.
